Reviewer General Comments and Suggestions (mandatory written feedback):

This is an interesting abstract. I think that examining the relationship of digital and analog ways of working is of great interest to the conference.

The paper will need stronger grounding in research and writing that has already been done on the subject. There is none of that as of now.

It also needs a much stronger and clearer conclusion

Reviewer General Comments and Suggestions (mandatory written feedback):
Questions the role and influence on digital modalities is very topical and appropriate for the DCA conference. The paper outlines an approach to introducing students to the process of investigation that embraces lateral thinking. The paper could be strengthened with more research into the pedagogical approach of open ended questions and greater definition of the project methodology. For instance, defining criteria for design success or how to introduce design flexibility while maintaining some control as assessment points. This would give you a way to analyze outcomes.
